At a red light and not moving, I noticed that the truck in front of me, which was not moving (we were waiting at a red light) he started to move, I thought the light had changed to green, so I released my foot from the brake. The car started to move forward without putting my foot on the gas, I looked away for a very short moment (at the radio) and when I looked up the truck had suddenly stopped. I quickly pushed the brake, I would say I was going around 3 miles and hour. I was not able to stop soon enough and made contact with the truck. We pulled over to a safe location where I viewed his truck which had very little damage.
